Public Announcement

Due to developments on the international crude oil market and the ongoing fear and speculations about the continuing international situation involving Iran and the Middle East, which could result in diminishing crude oil supply, the prices for crude oil have experienced an increase again.

Taking into consideration that our local prices of the refined petroleum products follow the trend of the price of crude oil on the international market, our ULG price has experienced an increase as well.

Given the aforementioned, the general public is hereby informed that as of Wednesday September 19, 2012 the price of the following petroleum product has been adjusted as follows:

	Current Price	New Price
Unleaded Gasoline (ULG)	258.00 Antillean cents/liter	270.00 Antillean cents/liter

Please take note: the price for Diesel remains as is (223.00 Antillean cents/liter)

Sept. 14, 2012.
